

What's wrong with the 9/11 Commission Report?

- After the Bush Administration stonewalled the investigation for 441 days, Bush & Cheney insisted on giving their testimony together, but not under oath. It was not recorded or revealed to the public.
- The Report fails to mention the total collapse of Building 7, a 47-story steel-framed skyscraper, at 5:20pm on the day of the attack.
- The Report fails to mention the rapid removal and recycling of the structural steel from the collapsed World Trade Center buildings, even though it's a felony to remove evidence from a crime scene.
- The Report contains no mentions of eyewitness accounts of explosions preceding the collapse of South Towers.
- The Report makes no mention of the fact that Larry Silverstein took control of the WTC complex just six weeks before the attack, obtained an insurance policy covering terrorist attacks, and successfully sued the insurance companies to obtain twice the multi-billion-dollar value of the policy.
- The Report repeats the list of 19 suspects identified by the FBI within days of the attack, while failing to mention that six of them reported themselves alive after the attack.
- The Report fails to mention that the published passenger lists contained no Arab names.
- The Report deemed the funding behind the attacks to be “of little practical significance.”
- The Report fails to mention that no credible footage of the Pentagon attack has been made public, despite public knowledge that the FBI seized footage of the attack from nearby businesses.
- The Report avoids mentioning several reports that government officials and business leaders received warnings not to fly on September 11th.
- And much more...
